Artist Statement:

This past year has been tough for me and most of my friends. Anxiety, fear and loss has impacted just about everyone I know. My own struggles with these and other of life's challenges leave me feeling exhausted and struggling for air. In those times, I find myself longing for light, leaning and grasping for sustenance and hope. When I finished weaving this tapestry I realized I wove that into my lily. Here the flower is stretching out, reaching toward the unseen light, the unseen Love. Receiving the Love light, the flower swells into its fullness, ready to offer beauty and fragrance to the world. All this is witnessed by a whimsical frog, symbolic of transformation, renewal and emotional healing.
